In the last year or so I have picked up individual books or pamphlets about Irish Philately. If I come across individual copies I don't like putting them on the web page in case I get two or more buyers. I have picked up the following and offer them for sale. "The Spoon Experiment 1853-1858 by Willcocks & Bentley, 1960, price $7.25. This book lists spoon postmarks in both Great Britain and Ireland. Posted at Ballymacclinton. If you would like to find out more about this town that was made for an exhibition google "Ballymacclinton." This 84 page pamphlet is about the history and that showed what the village looked like, through postcards, with background information. The cover has light tone spots. The price for this is $8.25. Last but not least is "Irish Postmarks Since 1840" by James A. Mackay. This book picks up from where the Feldman and Kane "Postal History to 1840" stops. The price of this is 17.75. All prices include postage. If interested email me at tosheal@comcast.net.

I would like to highlight the Hibernian handbook 2020. This catalogue is a great deal for $43.00. The chapter on coils and Railway Stamps have been greatly expanded as well as the cataloguing of low value overprints, the relationship between the overprint plates to the basic GB plates and controls, along with descriptions to identify the relevant GB plates. I hope to hear for you.

Two Former EPA Presidents Sign the Role of Distinguished Philatelists at London 2022

Charles Verge, President from 1993 to 1997
Pat Walker, President 1983 to 1985.

A Message from the President

The Doldrums of Summer

It's an annual event. We hit a flat spot in our collecting interest. Little wonder. The weather is warm. We have other distractions - the beach, going places, doing things other than collecting. OMG!!! Perhaps a break in collecting is good. It gives us time to think, and plan for what lies ahead. The EPA has a lot of things coming up. Our AGM is scheduled for the fall. Now is the time to get an exhibit ready. Our new web site will be available soon. We will need content to fill it out. Why not a short article on your area of expertise! Maybe an article for the Revealer? Irish philately offers hundreds, if not thousands of areas where you can be an expert! Maybe it's time to clean out and organize your collecting area? Why not submit some duplicate items to the auction in order to fund your newer interests? At the same time, check the auction for some of the elusive items you can't find at your dealer or on the web. Use the time constructively.

Collecting is NOT a solitary event. It can be, if you so choose, but it is actually more enjoyable in the company of similar-minded people. Don't know how to start? Ask! Perhaps a short email to a fellow member. With the web, this person, physically hundreds or thousands of miles away is as close as your keyboard. I've found sometimes they may not share a mutual interest, but know of someone else who is a fanatic on some esoteric subject like collecting the beer glass mats which double as postal cards that Guinness used as advertisements. No kidding! Yet these are legitimate postal cards, with an An Post pictures and wording in both Irish and English to indicate that the postage was paid, and, as such, quite philatelically collectable. (See the photo).

It is up to you to take the initiative.

Cead mille failte,

Ray Murphy

What's the Story Behind the Stamp? - "Tidy Towns"

By Raymond Murphy

In the process of remounting part of my collection, I noted the "Tidy Towns" commemorative of June 2008 (Fig. 1). While stationed in Europe in the 1970's, I took advantage of the time to visit many of the places I had read about. While it was nice to see castles, churches and all the usual tourist locations, I was often disappointed to see what could have been beautiful vistas trashed, junk alongside roads, and burnt-out cars in what could have been a nice area. Apparently, I wasn't the only one who noticed this.

This wasn't in just one area, or county, or even just one country - it was unfortunately too common in too many places.

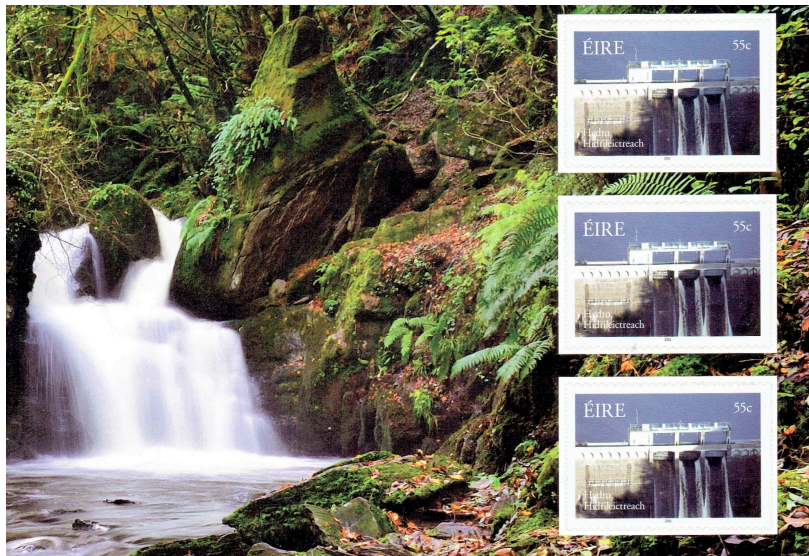

In 1953 to 1957, Ireland held a national festival, "An Tostal", celebrating all things Irish. The stamps (Figs.2 & 3) are well known. As an adjunct to this festival, a national clean-up campaign was conducted. This morphed into the Tidy Towns program. Its focus was to encourage local governments (and citizens) to take pride in their environment, and to improve their local area and make it a better place to reside and work. Coincidentally, such clean-ups just might attract tourists (and their money). The program was run by the Irish Tourist Board the Bord Failte. Today, it is managed by the Department of Environment, Heritage, and Local Government.

The program isn't just to clean up things. The program is organized to encourage long-term results rather than just quick fixes. To do just that, would be to ignore the basic problem! Rather, it is a program to instill pride in your local area and stop the littering. The program is set-up as a competition.

It rates all aspects of a town's local environment, and awards prizes in many areas. Today in Ireland, there are over 1,000 Tidy Town groups. Most recently, 847 of these groups submitted projects for evaluation. The overall winner was declared "Ireland's Tidiest Town", in a national awards ceremony. There are over €1.5 million in prizes. An interesting point - while this is a government-sponsored program, it is co-sponsored by SuperValu food markets. These often started as minor improvements. For example, let's put a trash can at the bus stop; and now make sure it gets emptied regularly.) How about a bench? Or perhaps a shelter? A few trees as a wind-break? The idea can grow.

The first winner in 1957 was Glenties, Co. Donegal. The most recent winner was Ennis, Co. Clare in the large urban area category. A more detailed discussion is at www.tidytowns.ie Be sure to read the evaluation report, especially the detailed summary at the end.

The Provisional Government of Ireland 16 January 1922

by Robert Benninghoff

This year marks the 100th anniversary of several key events in Irish History. These events started on 6 December 1921 with the signing of the Articles of Agreement, known as the Anglo-Irish Treaty or Treaty (1). The Treaty established the Irish Free State from the 26 counties of southern Ireland that would come into existence on 6 December, 1922. Southern Ireland would be governed by a Provisional Government for the first year. Dáil Éireann voted to approve the Treaty on 7 January 1922 and the Provisional Government of Ireland met for the first time on the morning of 16 January 1922. Figure 1 (below) shows the minutes of this first meeting in the handwriting of Michael Collins, who was elected Chairman of the Provisional Government of Ireland. The meeting adjourned for an afternoon meeting at Dublin Castle (2).

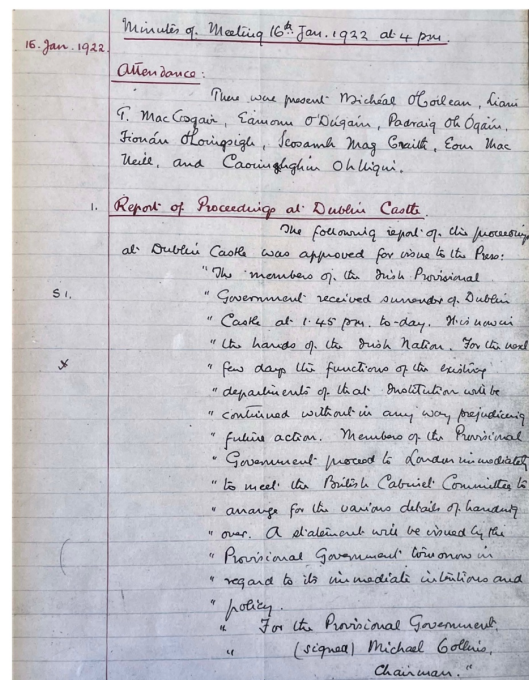

The second key event of this day was the symbolic handing over of Dublin Castle by the British to Michael Collins and other members of the Irish Government. The 100th anniversary was marked recently by An Post on January 13 2022 with a new stamp and FDC shown below.

The actual Anniversary date of the handover was commemorated by a series of covers prepared and mailed by Brian Warren (Figure 3 below).

The Provisional Government met again in the evening of 16 January to review the event and to discuss the Government's account for release to the press. Figure 4 below shows the minutes of the meeting handwritten again by Collins (2).

End Notes

- (1) The 1921 Treaty Negotiations were shown by the National Archives in a recent exhibition at Dublin Castle. The exhibit is scheduled to travel around Ireland this year.
- (2) Photos of displays in the National Archives. The Provisional Government met daily and written minutes of these meetings are available in the National Archives.

History in Search of Postal History –

by Robert Benninghoff

The Origins of Saint Patrick's Day Celebration – The Lament of the Irish in the New world.

This article starts a new opportunity for our EPA members who enjoy a postal history challenge, particularly those living in Florida, Northern Ireland or members specializing in Spanish Colonial mail from the Americas.

History in Search of Postal History: Documenting the Irish writing home

Many wars can be viewed as local or regional, when in fact they may have global impacts on various peoples and nationalities. Many conflicts last years or decades, and most people displaced or expelled from their homeland never return. Those who could read and write would always try to communicate with those left behind. However, in the 1500s and 1600s, international postal services were somewhat limited, particularly between the warring Europeans and the New World.

Ireland and the 9 Years 1594 to 1603

The following information outlines the Ulster Hugh O'Neill uprising against the British that lasted 9 years and almost succeeded in Irish Independence (Figures 1 and 2)

The rebellion failed largely because O'Neill's army became exhausted after almost a decade of fighting and was defeated on Christmas Eve 1601 by a fresh British army led by Lord Mountjoy. The Spanish landed troops and supplies at the fortified port of Kinsale on the south coast of Ireland in 1601. However, they stayed out of the final battle, mistaking their Irish allies for the British Army. The result was the expulsion of the Spanish and many well educated Irishmen and their families.

The defeat of O'Neill ended the 9 years War and any hope for an Independent Gaelic Ireland. While he was allowed to stay in Ireland, O'Neill eventually fled Ireland in 1607. Figure 3 shows part of an Irish miniature sheet issued in 2007 marking the 400th anniversary of O'Neill's departure from Ireland (3)

Where did the Irish go in 1601?

Many went to Spain and the Spanish Territories in the New World. Recent research shows that several of the Irish soldiers and educated individuals found new homes in Florida. Figure 4 shows a recent article from Ireland of the Welcomes (4) showing that one of the earliest recorded Saint Patrick's Day Celebration was in St Augustine, Florida in 1601. The Irish had a presence in the New World before the Battle of Kinsale and before the 1608 British Jamestown settlement (Virginia).

Why were the Irish Soldiers and the Educated Irish important to the Spanish?

The Spanish had been fighting the French for control of Florida since 1565 and it appears the Irish Soldiers were part of the Spanish Army. The Fort at St Augustine marked the northern extent of Spanish (eastern) America in 1601. Was the First St Patrick's Day parade a Celebration of being Irish or a Lament for a lost Homeland?

Few people could read and write in the 1500 and 1600s. The ability to record and document New World Treasures heading for Spain, made the educated Irishmen even more valuable to the Spanish Government in Cuba. To reduce pilferage three copies of each ship's cargo had to be hand written by different people and compared by a fourth. One copy went with the ship's Captain, one with the Fleet Admiral and one was retained in Havana.

The Philatelic Challenge:

Communications between the Spanish Territories and Spain have been well documented (6). But what about the Irishmen, and their families in Ireland and Spain? Did the Irish write home about the St Augustine, Saint Patrick's Day parade? How would these letters have travelled to Ireland? Where would the letters now be saved or archived?

A Postal History challenge, particularly, our EPA members living in Florida, Northern Ireland or members specializing in Spanish Colonial mail from the Americas.

ORIGIN OF THE DAY

The US Embassy claims Ireland took the St. Patrick's Day tradition from their trans-Atlantic cousins in America.

The Irish don't always like to admit who invented Saint Patrick's Day but it was actually America!

Who invented St. Patrick's Day? Most people would assume the Irish, but here's a case for it being an American innovation. The U.S. Embassy in Dublin created a video five years ago which sets out to prove that it was, in fact, America which created St. Patrick's Day and not Ireland!

The video claims that Ireland took the tradition of celebrating St. Patrick's Day from their trans-Atlantic cousins in America and sets out five distinctly American inventions that prove St Patrick's Day, as we know it, came from the US.

Top of their list is that they invented the parade tradition. Until 2018, the earliest recorded parade was one that took place in 1737 in Boston while New York City also claims a St Patrick's Day parade took place there in 1762.

In recent years, however, St. Augustine in Florida emerged as a new contender for the oldest St Patrick's Day parade in the world.

According to new research, St. Augustine may have well over a hundred years on Boston and New York, holding its first St. Patrick's Day celebration in 1600 and its first parade in 1601.

That aside, the embassy's second item is that Americans were turning things green long before the Irish were, with a list of examples such as green beer, green rivers, and green clothes!

Number three on the list is their assertion that marching bands were invented by Americans with number four explaining the all-too-believable reason corned beef and cabbage is also a US invention.

The last thing they lay claim to are the keys to the White House!

Special/Commemorative SOAR stamps on first day cover

A History of Ireland in 100 Objects: This is scheduled to be the last set of designs in this series which commenced in 2017. The usual pre-printed bureau set was issued in three strips of four stamps as listed above. I am not aware of any post offices which had complete rolls in their counter machines on the day of issue. I did not see use of the stamps in post offices until November. The philatelic bureau had strips from complete rolls printed from the bureau back-office machines (as illustrated on the previous page) on sale from 3pm on the day of issue.

The make-up differs from previous issues incorporating special/commemorative stamps in that the special/commemorative element only consisted of four stamps (as listed above) but was REPEATED a second time immediately after the first special/commemorative strip. As a result, if you wanted to buy 2 sets of 12 stamps in a continuous strip, you would need to purchase 32 stamps or at least 28. Each stamp has the usual three vertical phosphor bars and measures 56mm x 25mm.

An Post provided the usual two serviced FDCs for the eight definitive stamps. Collectors could make-up their own covers with the four special/commemorative stamps and have them postmarked with the special 23 July first day postmark.

A note in The Collector stated that two retail booklets and a coil roll were due to be issued later in the year but none are to hand as of April 2021. A new SOAR definitive series "Art on a Stamp" will be released in late 2021/early 2022 to replace the 100 Objects set.

Intel first day cover with cancellation under stamp

Note: The eight SOAR definitive stamps were included in the Year Book this year. The eight stamps are included as two blocks of four and NOT the usual vertical strips of four. The blocks of four are only available by purchasing the Year Book referred to above and are not sold separately by the bureau in this format.

Special Intel Cover: Intel with the apparent agreement with An Post produced their own first day cover for the Irish Microprocessor stamp as illustrated. Although the cover is similar in style as the An Post cover, it is an Intel first day of issue cover and NOT a first day cover as is usually printed on all other An Post covers.

Unofficial postmark

The cover was distributed to every Intel employee in Ireland (≈ 5,000 employed in Ireland). The special four-page card insert included a message from Eamonn Sinnott CEO Intel Ireland together with an illustrated timeline of Intel processors from 1971 to date.

As can be seen above, the cover had a different printed first day cancel which was printed on to the envelope before the application of the stamp. I understand that An Post did not regard it as an official postmark and would not give permission for it to be applied on the stamp. numbers required.

Self-service Kiosks: The refurbished St. Andrew Street PO was re-opened on Monday 28 September 2020. Three self-service kiosks are installed in the office with code numbers 35365011/21/31 (see illustrations above). All machines dispensed the 2019 combined definitive/special & commemorative designs.¹

There was one difference compared to stamps printed on all other machines to date - the prefix before the figure of value was "EURO" rather than "EUR". This was the same for both large font and small font purchases.

A single machine was installed in the refurbished Merrion Row PO, Dublin 2 from 1 July 2020 although I was not aware of this until end September 2020.

The code reference is 35365091 (see illustrations above). This is the first post office which is not an An Post own office to have a kiosk installed in the office. You will note the prefix is the normal "EUR".

A single machine was installed in the GPO Dublin in early December and was first noted working on 5 December. The code reference is 35365301 and the stamps, like Andrew Street PO have the EURO prefix.

Cork Head Post Office has been partly refurbished and one machine was installed in there in late 2020 (Details awaited). Completion of the refurbishment has been delayed. This was due to restrictions arising from the various Covid lockdowns.

¹ One machine (35365011) had changed over to the 2020 designs by mid-April 2021. The other two machines were out of order on the same date.

5 Mar	Pioneering Irish Women	- Postcards	no charge	Set of five - see below – two types	?
26 June	Digital Pride Festival 2020	- Postcard	no charge	Single postcard – see below	?
27 Aug	Father Ted	- Postcards	no charge	Set of four – see below	?
Dec	An Post Santa envelope		no charge	See below

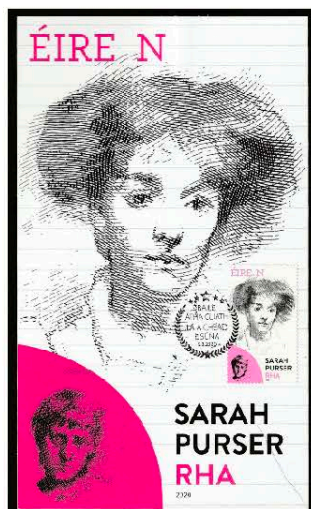

"A" Size Postage Paid Envelope: The postage paid envelope was re-printed with the new An Post Postage Paid imprint. I first bought same in the first week of January but presumably it was available from late 2019.

Come Together - Write Now Postcards (COVID-19): In mid-March it was announced that all households would receive a free pair of postpaid cards to send to friends during the current lockdown. In addition, they were also freely available in most post offices and delivery offices. Each pair came in the form of a large A4 card with two A5 designs.

There were two different sets of designs – both are illustrated above (I & II). You needed to use a scissors or guillotine to separate the cards. Each card bears a postage paid imprint valid for postage within Ireland (see illustration on previous page). A further set of cards but in smaller C5 format was issued in January 2021.

Pioneering Irish Women – Postcards: At the launch ceremony in the GPO for this issue, a set of large format postcards (one illustrating each stamp) was given to each person present. The reverse of each card has an imprinted stamp of each design. However, subsequently I discovered that the same set of cards exist without any stamp imprint - see illustrations. I'm not sure why the two variations. Neither set were sold by the bureau. Why produce these cards and not make them available to the collector? The question does arise as to whether any previous cards were produced in both formats. In addition to the postcards, a bookmark was also handed out which reproduced all five stamps.

Digital Pride Festival 2020: The postcard is similar to the 2019 issue and was widely available at no charge in post offices in the Dublin area from Friday 26 June, the day before the online Digital Pride Festival which was held the same weekend. Unlike the 2019 issue, there was no postage paid stamp imprint of any type on the reverse.

Father Ted – Postcards: A set of four large postcards featuring the four designs were distributed to the media by the marketing section of An Post. A competition was run online by An Post for a “presentation pack”. I entered same and was lucky enough to win one of the so-called “packs”. The plain bubble pack envelope which I received contained the booklet, the booklet stamps FDC and the four cards. I illustrate one of the cards. There is no stamp imprint on the reverse side. The outer bubble pack envelope had some self-adhesive stickers with the same quotes.

An Post Santa Envelope: The 2020 envelope was the same main design as last year with Santa on a child's scooter and his North Pole address. The postmark differs from 2019 and now includes the words “Send Love” together with Santa in his sleigh being pulled by the reindeers. The postmark cancelled the An Post postage paid imprint.

EXHIBITION SOUVENIRS AND POSTMARKS

The Spring Stamp & Coin Fair scheduled for 19 April 2020 was cancelled due to the COVID-19 restrictions. A postmark (as illustrated) was designed for the show but not manufactured. The cancellation illustrates the Campanile in the grounds of Trinity College, Dublin 1. Both Stampa (16-18 October) and the Cork Philatelic Society annual show (November) were also cancelled.

The souvenir was posted out on 14 September 2021, with the outer envelope cancelled with a special postmark plus a cachet as illustrated.

Stampa Souvenirs: Although there was no exhibition, all members registered for the 2019 show received without charge a mint overprinted Thin Lizzy miniature sheet.

The three-line overprint in black reads "STAMPA 2020 / SUPPORT STAMPA 2021 / 15th-17th October 2021". In addition there is a red X superimposed over 2020 to signify that the exhibition was cancelled. Additional copies could be purchased for €6.00. Total printing 600 copies.

This postmark was also available on cover with either of the Thin Lizzy stamps at a cost of €4.00. A miniature sheet FDC was also available at €8.00. Both covers also had an additional green cachet as illustrated above.

All miniature sheets, including sheets on FDCs, were sold out within two weeks. There were less than 20 sheets cancelled on FDC before stocks ran out.

Other Special Postmarks: Apart from the Stampa cancel referred to above, there were no other special postmarks used during 2020.

SLOGANS USED ON INTEGRATED LETTER PROCESSING SYSTEM MACHINES (ILPS - NEC Japanese machines in use at all four mail centres)

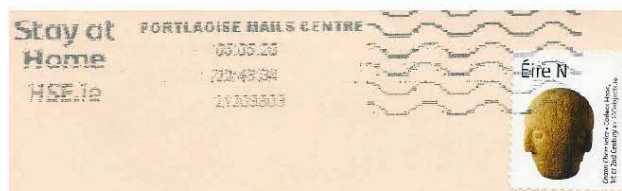

(Illustrations of all slogan postmarks have been reduced)

There were five new slogans during 2020. The Cork Mail Centre closed in March 2020. I do not know the exact date but I'm aware it closed earlier than initially announced due to COVID-19 arrangements. However, it was used for sorting parcel post during the run-up to Christmas due to the rise in parcel post during the pandemic.

ILPS 141 - Jack Charlton / 1935 – 2020

ILPS 141 used at DMC on 6 August 2020

An Post and Royal Mail jointly commemorated the life of English World Cup winning footballer and Republic of Ireland manager Jack Charlton who died on 10 July 2020 with this special slogan postmark.

Former Irish international footballer Paul McGrath who played during the Charlton era pictured with a "mock-up" of the Jack Charlton postmark

The An Post announcement stated that the postmark was to be applied to stamped mail posted in the Republic of Ireland and England from Monday 20th July until Sunday 9th August. It was not used in Wales, Scotland or Northern Ireland. Used at all three An Post mail centres. Most impressions were very poor. I have noted that the slogan was still in use at the DMC on 17 August and AMC on 19 August.

Royal Mail slogan used at Gatwick Mail Centre on 4 August 2020

I also illustrate above the equivalent Royal Mail slogan.

ILPS 142 - ChampionGreen.ie / #SupportLocal

ILPS 142 used at DMC on 24 November 2020

Used during November and December. Earliest date known is 16 November but noted as late as 28 December. I have only seen complete examples from AMC & DMC. PMC examples usually very poor and date missing. Champion Green is a consumer marketing initiative backed by a €1M investment to drive support for local business and enterprise, supported by Kilkenny Design and Visa, in association with Retail Excellence, Small Firms Association and Chambers Ireland. Further details at <https://championgreen.ie/>

ILPS 143 - SEND / LOVE*ILPS 142 used at DMC on 3 December 2020*

First noted on 30 November and in use at all mail centres to at least 11 December before being replaced by ILPS 144. Also seen at AMC on 19 December. Reintroduced in January 2021.

ILPS 144 - A Hug / fOr / you / RTE Toy Show Appeal

A young Cork boy, who inspired the nation with his 'virtual hug' idea, was honoured by An Post in December 2020. In a memorable moment from the 2020 Late Late Toy Show on RTE1, Adam King from Co Cork held up a homemade "virtual hug" (see below) that he shows to everyone he meets because of COVID-19. The show was broadcast on Friday 27 November 2020.

Six-year-old Adam, who was born with a brittle bone condition, loves catching up with his hospital friends - including Marie Mack in CUH Seahorse Ward and John Doyle in Temple Street who joined Adam on the show.

After telling Ryan Tubridy of his plans to work for mission control at NASA, Adam had the opportunity to speak to Commander Chris Hadfield of NASA on last Friday's Late Late Show. The show also featured a surprise visit from "the nicest hospital porter in Ireland", John Doyle, who had befriended Adam at Temple Street. This year's Toy Show featured a charity appeal which raised more than €6.6m.

It was also announced on a subsequent show on 11 December that An Post would reproduce his virtual hug design in a slogan postmark. The earliest date I have noted is Friday 11 December. In use at all mail centres during December 2020 and early January 2021 before being replaced by the re-use of ILPS 143.

In February 2021, Adam's special 'Hug For You' card went on sale at SuperValu and selected Centra stores to help the nation give their very own special hug to those who really need it this Valentine's Day. All proceeds from the cards will go to CHI Temple Street and Cork University Hospital Charity. An Irish version of the card was also sold.

Continued Use/Re-use of SloganILPS 137 Remember to / Use Your / EIRCODEILPS 137 used at DMC on 17 September 2020*

This slogan was first introduced in 2018 and was in use throughout 2020 except when the new slogans referred to above were in operation.

CFSM postmark used at PMC on 30 July 2020

I have NOT noted any changes in the CFSM postmarks during 2020.

OTHER ITEMS

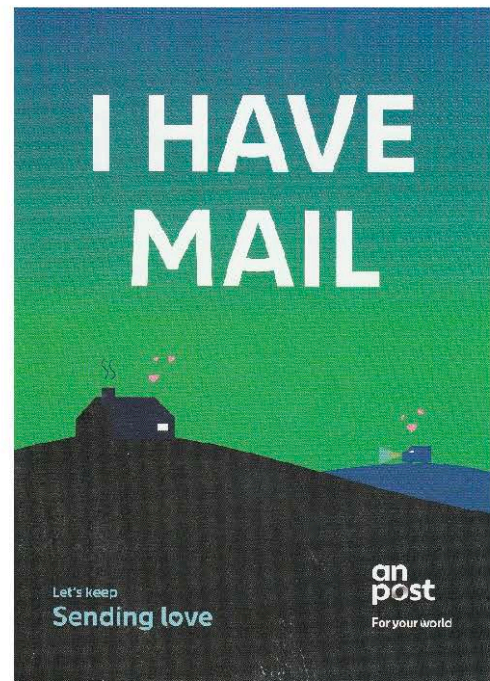

An Post Christmas Card: The front of the rather plain fold-over card shows stylised trees.

The inside of the front of the card reproduces the "A post-person check-in" design but with a "W" rather than the issued "N" denomination.

Other News: Since late March 2020, An Post offered free postal facilities to all senior citizens/vulnerable persons whereby if they had a mail item that needed collection, they could put a sign in their window saying I HAVE MAIL and the postal delivery staff would collect it on their route. This was limited to inland mail.

Recognising the increased restrictions in nursing homes across the country and to bring a little joy, An Post will ensure free delivery of all card and letter mail posted to and from residents of Nursing and Care homes in the State until 31 January 2021. By writing FREEPOST where the stamp would normally be affixed, An Post carried cards, letters, large envelopes and packets weighing up to 2KG without a postage stamp. Customers could send these items through the Post Office network and post boxes across Ireland. This service came into operation on Monday 19 October 2020.

Due to COVID-19, there was only an online Culture Night this year (Friday 18 September). The planned free access to the museum in the GPO on the night did not take place and no Culture Night postcard was produced.

Telegraph Development in Ireland – Part 2

By Brian Callan

The merger immediately gave the company more access to overhead routes and allowed it to develop its network by constructing lines along the main roads and to replace the underground cables wherever possible. The merger also gave direct access to the second submarine cable that the British Telegraph Company had laid from Portpatrick to Donaghadee, allowing the company to have a major presence across Ireland which resulted in 20% of its offices being located here. The new company had 3,283 miles of line (14,926 miles of wire) by 1855 with 201 public telegraph offices. This network had extended to 4,401 miles of line (18,668 miles of wire) by 1865 with 491 public telegraph offices.

The new Company Secretary was Edward Brailford Bright, previous Company Secretary and General Manager of the The English & Irish Telegraph Company.

The new company also continued their collaboration with The Submarine Telegraph Company, sharing their Liverpool and London offices and promoting each other in their literature e.g. The British & Irish Magnetic transmission forms claimed “The Lines of the British and Irish Magnetic Telegraph are placed in direct communication, by exclusive connection of the Submarine Telegraph Company’s cables, with the Continental Telegraph System which embraces 900 Stations in Europe”.

Stamps of the British & Irish Magnetic were also lithographed by Mawdesley and Co., Liverpool, with some values printed on coloured paper stocks remaining from The British Telegraph Company, while others used a paper watermarked with rows of five clenched hands grasping thunderbolts. The first issue was produced in 1857 but Langmead lists these as only known in the Royal Philatelic Collection. It is now known that at least one copy does exist in private hands (1s 6d black on buff paper, control no. 83118, cancelled with blue concentric rings). The 1857 issue had 1s 6d, 2s, 2s 6d, 4s and 5s stamps. A new stamp design was produced in 1859 (Figure 5), initially perforated at 11½ - 12 and overprinted with black or red controls. This issue replaced the previous values and added 3d, 6d, 1s, and 3s to the five earlier values.

The perforation gauge was changed to 13 x 13½ sometime after 1860. The only other significant design change was the 1s 6d which initially had its value written in numbers but later issues moved to value expressed in words.

Imperforate stamps without a control number are remainders, which should have been destroyed when the Post Office took over in 1870. These likely came from the printers and reflect the actual issues in circulation at the transfer to the Post Office. A typical 1868 British & Irish Magnetic Company form is shown in Figure 6, the reverse of which is blank while the 1869 form lists 330 principal offices across Great Britain and Ireland and a further 40 European offices with direct connections.

Several of the following Collections & Accumulations are being offered in either of two ways - as a complete collection (for example Lot #2) or as subsets of the complete collection (for example Lots #2A and Lot #2B). Bidding on these Lots will proceed in the normal manner, however, the ultimate winning Bidder or Bidders will be determined based on the highest winning Bid of the complete collection versus the sum of the highest winning Bids for the subsets of the collection. If the highest winning bid for the complete collection exceeds the sum of the winning bids for the subsets, the complete collection will be sold as one unit and there will be no winning bids accepted for the subsets of that collection. If the sum of the winning bids of the subsets of the collection exceeds the winning bid of the complete collection, the subsets of the collection will be sold as individual Lots and there will be no winning bid accepted for the complete collection.
